

‘EU-Latin America dialogue on migration and integration’ conference

Thursday 9th November, 10am to 6pm
Hybrid event: Conference Room, Eurac Research/YouTube

This conference aims to foster an interregional dialogue between Europe and Latin America on the multilevel governance of migration, mobility, and immigrant integration. By bringing together practitioners and academics, this conference seeks to promote a better understanding of the various forms in which migration and diversity can be managed in two major world regions. The conference is organized and funded by the projects GLAM: Global South Migration and Comparative Integration: A Study of South American Migrants, and POLIM: Policy Implementation in South America in Global South Regionalism projects. Multilevel Migration Governance in South America.
